“FORMER CRAIG TEACHER NOT GUILTY OF SEXUAL EXPLOITATION OF A CHILD”

Craig, Colorado – Today a Moffat County Jury found Justin Folley “not guilty” of the sexual exploitation of a child after two hours of deliberation.

The case involved allegations that Mr. Folley, a former teacher in Moffat County Schools, groomed female students and then sought and obtained sexually explicit photographs of one of them.

District Attorney Brett Barkey stated, “While we are disappointed in the result, we respect the jury’s verdict and appreciate their close attention to this case. The District Attorney’s Office and our law enforcement partners will continue to aggressively investigate and prosecute those seeking to sexually exploit our children.”
